A Washington special to the Cincinhati Gazette (Republican) says: "Clerk Adams of the House now says that he has received the credentials of all the Representatives except from the Fourth California District (Pacheco and Wigginton) and the First Missouri (Frost and Metcalfe). Without deciding as to these two, Adams will place on his roll 12 Democratic majority. As it is understood that the Republican in the California district and the Democrat in the Missouri district obtained certificates, the ratio of the Democratic majority on the roll would not be changed by the decision in these two cases. Democratic Congressmen say that one of the first resolutions to be introduced by Democrats in the House will be one beartily approving the President's Southern policy. If this is done, the anti-Administration Republicans, if such there are, will have an opportunity of defining

THE EASTERN WAR.

The long inactivity of the Russian forces in Asia Minor is explained by the fact that they have been engaged in suppressing an insurrection in the central district of Dagheston. It was reported on the 4th, that, the insurrection having been effectually quelled, the Russians had made a concerted attack along the whole line, and that severe fighting had taken place. Changes in Turkish commanders are announced as follows: Mehemet Ali has been recalled by the authorities at Constantinople, and his place as commander of the army of the Danube succeeded in the Balkans by Raouf Pasha.

The Russian attack upon the Turkish defences around Kars, on the 3d, was successfully repulsed, both sides having lost heavily without either gaining any important ad-

Mukhtar Pasha, Turkish commander in Asia, telegraphed on the 7th that the Russians had abandoned all their positions parallel to the Ottoman lines. The enemy's losses in the three days' fighting are estimated by Mukhtar at 10,000; that of the Turks is given at 2,000. At Schipka Pass the snow was two feet in depth, and the troops were compelled to sit on frezen trenches ankle-deep in the snow.

The attempt of the Russians to cut Mukhtar Pasha off from the fortress at Kars was frustrated after a three days' battle. A reliable correspondent says that the Russian as 30 or 40 feathers scattered around on losses in Asia have been greatly exaggerated by Turkish reports, and that the losses on both sides are about equal. Important changes in the Russian command in Europe are announced. The work before Plevna continues. The massing of troops indicates further active operations during the autumn.

The October State Elections.

The Ohio State election was held on the 9th, at which was chosen a full ticket of State officers, together with members of the Legislature, the latter of whom will elect a United States Senator to succeed Senator Sherman, whose term will expire in 1879. Two amendments to the Constitution were also voted for, one reorganizing the Judiciary of the State and the other authorizing free banking. There were five candidates for Governor in the field, viz.; Wm. H. West, Republican; Richard M. Bishop, Democratic; Stephen Johnson, Greenback: L. H. Bond, Workingmen's; Henry A. Thompson, Prohibition. A faction of the Workingmen supported the Greenback ticket. The vote in 1875 for Governor showed a Republican majority over all others of 2,951; over the next highest, 5,444. Last fall Hayes's majority over all for President was 3,747; over the next highest, 7,516.

A Pair of Mormon Murderers.

A dispatch from Salt Lake City to the New York Herald says: "Orin Porter Rockwell, the notorious Mormon mur-derer and accredited chief of the Danites, was indicted yesterday by the Grand Jury of the First Judicial District of the Territory, now in session at Provo, for his participation in what is generally known as the Aitken massacre, which occurred in the central part of the Territory, 100 miles south of this city, in 1858. Rockwell was arrested in this city to-day by the United States Marshal, and conveyed to the Penitentiary for safe keeping. He was in a state of intoxication when arrested, and talked loudly of writing his confessions, as Bill Hickman, his former associate in crime,

Bishop Robert T. Burton, the Major General of the Nauvoo Legion, who was arrested some months ago for the murder of Joseph Morris, the rival prophet of Brigham Young, in 1862, and Dr. Jeter Clinton, who was also arrested about the same time on the charge of murdering Elder John Banks, the counselor of Morris, have both been released from custody en $15,000 and $10,000 bail respectively. The arrest of Rockwell is regarded here as an important step on the part of the officers of the law, exhibiting as it does that there is a disposition on the part of the Grand Jury to bring this noorious criminal to answer for his bloody deeds. He has been the ready tool of the Mormon leaders from almost the foundation of their Church to carry on their vengeance against their enemies. He was accused as far back as 1840 of having made an attempt to assassinate Gov. Lilburn W. Boggs, of Missouri, but the Governor escaped with his life, though he was very seriously wounded and never wholly recovered. It is a matter of common belief here that it was Rockwell, with his associates, who murdered Secretary Almon W. Babbitt and his companions at Ash Hollow, on the Plains, in 1857. A few days after the murder of Mr. Babbitt a small party of apostate Mormons, leaving this city for the States, were also murdered. That Rockwell was sent on the plains to " put them out of the way" is not doubted here. That he was the chief of the who killed the Aitkens their associates while on their way to California every body believes; but what evidence the Grand Jury was in possession of on which to indict him is yet unknown. He is generally believed to have committed several murders, and there is a strong hope that he will carry out his promise to-day, and publish his confession. He is a man of small stature, but very wiry, and now about 60 years of age. He has never followed any settled course of life, and has lived more on horseback than at home. Of late years he has owned large droves of horses, and has accumulated quite an amount of money. For the last seven or eight years he has given himself up to almost constant intoxication, to drown the reproaches of conscience, it is believed. It was he who interrupted Vice-President Colfax in the midst of his speech at the Townsend House, and then made the astounding statement to that public meeting that "he had never killed any body who didn't want to be killed, or deserved to be killed, any-
